

The SPPC (Seven Ponds Photography Club) was established 2009. We meet bi-monthly at Seven Ponds Nature Center in Dryden, Michigan, 7:00 PM-9:00 PM Jan – Nov.

Photographers of all levels and skills are welcome to join our fun and exciting photo club to learn and share in the art of photography.

Joining SPPC is a great way of meeting and being social with other photographers, as well as sharing your work, getting feedback and having the opportunity to show your work to a larger audience.

SPPC is a member of the GDCCC (Greater Detroit Camera Club Council) which consists of 11 competing photographic clubs in the greater metropolitan Detroit area including Windsor, Ontario, and Toledo, Ohio.

If you want to become a better photographer, learn more, get and stay inspired, meet others who share your passion, and make new friends join us.

The first Friday meeting is competition night. Both digital and print competitions are held with critiques and opportunities to ask questions and provide input.

Images are submitted in the following categories

- Monochrome

- Color General
- Color Creative
- Nature

Top-scoring photographs from our club competition will be sent on to the GDCCC to compete against photographs from the our surrounding clubs in the council.

Ribbons are awarded for photographs that finish first, second, third, and honorable mention. Ribbons, medals and trophies are handed out at the end of the year.

The third Friday meeting is educational. Presenters or hands-on activities are held to improve understanding of all areas of photography. This is great opportunity to learn and ask photography related questions.
