

Self-Expression Workshop

Lone Willow Studio is offering a new self-expression photography workshop. In this workshop participants will explore the philosophy and techniques related to self-expression and impressionism.

Some of the topics and techniques discussed include:

- Contemplative photography and interpreting what you “see” and revealing through impressionism.
- The relationship between the photographer and the subject.
- Subject elements and their connection to the subject.
- Self-critique
- Discussion will also center on basic techniques from receiving to recording your image with emphasis on the process and not the final product.

If you are completely satisfied with the results you are receiving from your photography you should probably pass on this workshop, especially if the connection with your impressionism is being revealed.
