Additional Information	The photo time for the caves would depend on what package the person(s) purchased. This is more of an independent trip since there appears to be so much to see and do. I am not sure if folks want to stay the whole day or just stay a couple of hours. I suggest they look at the website to get an idea of what to expect from the outing. That may also determine what they choose to purchase (more vs. less). There is even a guided mountain tour that costs quite a bit.
